Pricing & Engagement Models

Sample content. Aventra Software Group is a fictional company used for demonstration. Every organization, figure, client, and outcome in this document is invented and does not describe any real entity or engagement.

Indicative ranges for a typical full-scope engagement. A proposal quotes a fixed fee against the scope confirmed in discovery, which may sit anywhere in — or, with a reduced scope, below — these ranges.

How a fixed fee is built up

Standard allocation across workstreams. Adjust when the solicitation gives a reason — a data-heavy engagement carries more migration, a greenfield build carries less.

Workstream	Share of fee
Discovery & solution design	14%
Development & configuration	42%
Integrations	16%
Data migration & setup	8%
Quality assurance & security testing	10%
Training, documentation & launch	6%
Project management	4%

Delivery phases

Phase	Share of schedule
Discovery & Design	20%
Foundation & Integrations	25%
Core Build	30%
Testing & Hardening	15%
Launch & Stabilization	10%

Each phase ends with a working, demonstrable increment and a stakeholder review.

Included in the fixed fee

- Discovery, design, build, integration, and testing as scoped
- Data migration where identified in scope
- Accessibility and security review each sprint
- Role-based training, written and video documentation, knowledge transfer
- Handover of source code, infrastructure-as-code, and documentation in full

Excluded, and quoted separately

- Third-party software licences and subscriptions, passed through without markup
- Ongoing cloud hosting and run costs
- Hardware and end-user devices
- Post-launch care plan — optional, renewable, quoted as a separate annual figure
- Scope added after discovery, handled through change control

When a buyer's budget sits below the range

Do not compress full scope to fit a number. Propose a reduced or phased scope at a price that is genuinely deliverable, state plainly which functionality is deferred, and price the later phase indicatively so the buyer can see the whole path. Underbidding to win is how engagements fail.
